New Victor Products Achieve 2013 National American Office Products Award Recognition

MR500: All-In-One Monitor Riser™ & PH600: Smart Charge Pencil Cup™ with USB Hub selected as finalists.

Victor Technology is excited to announce the MR500: All-In-One Monitor Riser™ and the PH600: Smart Charge Pencil Cup™ with USB Hub have been shortlisted for the 2013 North American Office Products Awards. The awards are organized by Office Products International (OPI), a leading publication for the office products industry in association with S.P. Richards, a leading business products wholesaler. The fourth annual awards program is designed to encourage innovation and give recognition to companies that work to deliver real value for the dealer community. Product entries are open to any company in North America or with a physical presence in North America.

The Best Product Awards categories are designed to highlight creativity and innovation in different areas of the Office Supply Industry. OPI has introduced a new award, the Innovation of the Year Award. This award seeks to discover the truly innovative products and ensure they receive the recognition they deserve.

The PH600: Smart Charge Pencil Cup™ with USB Hub is nominated for Best Product in the Core Office Product Category, because it offers a unique twist to your typical pencil holder. This product targets the ever-growing community of smart phone, e-reader and tablet users. The Smart Charge Pencil Cup was first designed to keep any mobile device at a convenient and accessible location on your desk. This product evolved to offer the user more functionality and features than any other pencil holder on the market. It has the ability to charge your device by using one of the four USB ports. The sturdy wood construction, black matte finish and sleek styling add a touch of luxury to every desk.

The MR500: All-In-One Monitor Riser™ is nominated for two categories, Best Product in the Core Office Product Category and the Innovation of the Year Award. The All-In-One Monitor Riser™ provides a convenient, compact multi-media station all inside a monitor riser. It allows users to organize their electronic needs within arm's length of the keyboard. The unique design combines speakers, USB hub, SD card reader, headphone/microphone jacks, AUX inputs, Apple® docking station, and a convenient shelf into one compact and attractive accessory. These added features create a user-friendly work space for any office dweller and the solid wood construction and smooth black matte finish creates a premier wood desktop accessory.

Starting June 1st, OPI encourages dealers, reps, and individuals to vote for their favorite nominated products. To learn more about these nominees and to vote visit www.opi.net/votenaopa2013.
